What's New In?

Portable and easy to use Create a suitable environment In conclusion Enjoy I sent this message to my officemates and at the head of the table this is where I found this message I'm still pondering on whether to send it to the entire company or just the officemates Send it to the office Computer lovers say best prank ever There is one computer in the office that has been consistently there for 5 years. When i first came to work there it had a small problem. The screen would freeze and the mouse and keyboard lights would turn off when we entered the office. Every so often, the users would remove the power from the cord and plug it back in to make it work for a while. It had to be done every time. The owner was aware of it. But the cord was useless. The other workers said it was probably the receiver that was faulty. So after a few months they replaced it and the computer started to work fine. But the problem remained.. The computer never started when anyone was in the office and it just sat there. The only person who could see it was the owner. The users in the office made many attempts to get someone to restart the computer, but there was only one person who had the power to do so. is a prank that everyone enjoys since the computer in the office never has started unless someone fixed it. But after a while an intern started fixing it again. Whenever one of our coworkers would ask why the computer wasnt working he would say "Hey I had the computer working for a few hours today but its dead now." We would get so pissed that he would fix it and tell us "good luck finding out how to start it. Its a mystery but it must be a good one." Every time we would shake our heads and laugh. Finding a job involves a lot of application and luck, but nothing is more important than confidence. And confidence can only be achieved through practice. We found this message from one of the applicants who was unsure about his application to a well known company. You know that this month we are getting out of this mess Nothing doing. Full month at work! They told us that the deadline is 15th of march. you know we were thinking of applying around 11th of march, but someone recommended not to apply at all. Someone told that if we don't apply, we are definitely getting a job. He was talking about their HR person and that
