A ntruFinder Project is an application which was started about 6 years ago, but still is not finished. But now it became a full project. With 7 new versions it was finished. Read more... Download: P2P File Sharing Client With the release of Peer 2 Peer, the question has become: what if I'm only interested in sharing one specific file? Does P2P File Sharing Client cut it? P2P File Sharing Client is a file sharing application that enables users to share files, folders, and even printers. It supports both direct file sharing and peer to peer transfers. P2P File Sharing Client is for free, but in order to use it, you will need to register your account. Registration is free and quick. When you're done, you can start using it. The program itself is quite straightforward, but its interface is not intuitive. There's a lot of clicking to do, especially if you're a novice. You can configure it to save data on a web server, but in order to do that, you'll need to have access to the Internet. You can't even schedule when the download/upload process will take place. Furthermore, there's no way to share files without a third-party client. The only application that P2P File Sharing Client includes is a simple messaging program. You can upload files to the program's main window, but you cannot send files to other users. The developer has promised to upgrade it by the end of 2009, but there's no release date yet.
