Other people online may suggest the same, but I think I did a bit of unique research and then opened my mind and let my imagination run wild. Inspiration happens in many different places from books to conversations to daydreams. Sometimes it's difficult to believe that I had such a huge influence on the world. Of course, my parents had a significant influence on me. They are the ones that taught me to love and respect nature and that nature is alive and everywhere. But there are many others as well. My teachers who were in my life and that cared about my future. We went through the Civil War together.
