Super Fdisk is a fully functional partition management utility that will allow users to create, delete, duplicate or resize partitions. Like this: Like Loading...The present invention relates to a method for controlling a component sequence for a vehicle actuated by a fuel supply system. U.S. Pat. No. 6,662,938 discloses a method for influencing the fuel-air mixture in an internal combustion engine, wherein the maximum possible atomization is implemented over the entire operational range. This involves a fuel metering system which meters the fuel in accordance with an external signal in such a manner that a signal, superimposed over a rotary signal representing the speed and a signal representing the load, initially defines a fuel metering factor which is equal to the drive power divided by the traction force, and the fuel metering factor is increased by a factor of at least one when a sensor signal exceeds a predetermined value. The value and trend of the fuel metering factor are derived from the rotary signal and from the signal representing the speed and the load. The sensor signal for the determination of the fuel metering factor is derived from the inductive or ohmic signal of the ignition coil. U.S. Pat. No. 5,494,470 discloses a control device for a fuel metering system of an internal combustion engine of a motor vehicle, wherein a first fuel metering factor which permits the calculation of a desired air quantity is generated in accordance with a fuel injection quantity produced by the fuel metering system and a desired engine torque. The desired engine torque is derived from a function of a rotational speed of the engine and a desired output power. A second fuel metering factor which is dependent on the rotational speed is generated by a control device which compares a determined actual output power with the desired output power. The desired air quantity is obtained from the first and the second fuel metering factors. The desired air quantity is adjusted by a controller to enable a determined actual output power to be produced as well as possible. International Patent Document WO 99/22134 discloses a method for the active correction of the metering or fuel injection quantity for controlling an internal combustion engine. An air flow rate is detected at a crankshaft position at which a maximum in-cylinder pressure is indicated. The metering or the fuel injection quantity is then modified at a position of the injection pump dependent on the signal representing the detected air flow rate.
